In Washington anyone at risk for having or witnessing an overdose can carry and use naloxone, the medication to reverse opioid overdose.

(WA RCW 69.41.095)

Where can I find naloxone?

- Syringe exchange and community programs distribute naloxone, often only to their clients.
- Your health care provider can write you a prescription that you can pick up at a pharmacy.
- Under the WA Statewide Standing Order pharmacies can dispense naloxone. Like getting a flu shot, you can get naloxone without seeing a prescriber first, and have your insurance charged.

Tips:

- Before you go, call to find out about availability, cost, and insurance coverage. If you have Medicaid there is no copay. For private insurance coverage will vary.
- If you have any issues getting naloxone at a pharmacy, ask for the pharmacy manager.
- If your pharmacy delivers, naloxone can be sent to your house, just like with other medications.
